

Statement Concerning the Usage of ABAQUS Software on Computers of the Centre for Advanced Computing

All prospective users of the ABAQUS under the license agreement held by the Centre for Advanced Computing (formerly HPCVL) must sign to the following statement.

1. I am currently covered by a valid license agreement with Dassault Systemes and entitled to access the software and license keys installed on the machines of the Centre for Advanced Computing. I will abide by the terms of the SLA, and notify the Centre for Advanced Computing when the conditions of the license do not apply to me anymore.
2. I am an authorized user of the software as outlined in the SLA. Specifically,
  - I work in an academic research group at an institution that is covered by an academic ABAQUS software license, and
  - I am a valid user of the Centre for Advanced Computing.
3. Any work done with this software will be in the framework of academic research. This excludes specifically commercial and contract usage.
4. I will not make access to ABAQUS available to any third party for any reason whatsoever, including other users in the same research group. The latter will have to sign up for usage separately if they qualify.
5. The Centre for Advanced Computing may notify ABAQUS of my usage of their software.
