

Statement concerning Gamess Software

I declare that I am an academic user of the Centre for Advanced Computing and as such entitled to use the Gamess software residing on CAC computers. Access and usage are governed by the license agreement between the Centre (formerly HPCVL), Queen's University, and Mark Gordon's Quantum Theory Group at Ames Laboratory/Iowa State University.

I further declare that:

- I have read and understood the license terms and will abide by them,
- I will use the software exclusively for academic research purposes, specifically excluding commercial and contract work,
- I will not give access to the software to any third party, particularly to non-members of the Centre for Advanced Computing,
- I will not make or distribute copies of it outside of the CAC machines for which it is licensed,
- I will cite the author of the software in research publications, as outlined in the license.
